*In order to move beyond
the hurts of the past,
we need a safe place
to be able to - talk and
dream, laugh and cry,
grow and live.*

*That is what
INENIMOWIN CIRCLE
is all about.*

Inenimowin Circle

Bigfork, MT
May 18-22, 2014

Small Group Training for Emotional Healing

Let's talk about how we are feeling in our hearts...

Together

YOUR LEADERS

Your leaders for this event bring a wealth of experience from working among the First Peoples of North America. They include Ray and Elaine Aldred as well as Rick and Linda Martin. They have all experienced a measure of healing using this material and want to share the rich resource with you.

Ray and Elaine Aldred work with My People in Calgary, Alberta. Ray, a professor at Ambrose University, is a gifted teacher and story teller.

Rick and Linda Martin work with My People near Winnipeg, Manitoba. They are biblical counselors with many years of experience working within First Nations communities.

You will be blessed by these leaders as they share from their experiences, biblical wisdom, and especially from their hearts.

Inenimowin is a Cree word which means “the feeling we have in our heart”. This training event is all about how to create a safe palace for people to talk about the feelings they have in their hearts. You will learn how to lead a support group for people who have suffered abuse or great disappointment. In effect, you are learning to create an Open Hearts Circle or an Inenimowin Circle in your own community.

The desired outcome of these circles or small groups, is that people would be able to come to the place that they could begin to emerge from the darkness of the past a really live again - that they could come to a new place of healing, and be able to say, “what others meant for evil, God has used for good.”

“This training transformed the way I see myself and also how I can love and listen to others who have also experienced abuse and loss. The facilitators are professionals sharing from real experiences and the small group sessions are empowering. I would recommend this training to anyone who is willing to look inwardly and examine the power of their own story and that of others.”

LEARN HOW TO CREATE A SAFE PLACE FOR HURTING PEOPLE

You will experience the material as a leader and a participant. There will be large group sessions working through the material as well as sharing within a small group setting. We have found leading a group with someone else who has taken the training works best, so we recommend communities send at least two participants. Our training is not a replacement for counseling, but we have found that having a safe place to talk about what is “going on inside” can help.
